DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-9, 12-14, and 16-19 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by U.S. Pat. No. 1,887,655 to Marple.

Marple '655 teaches Applicant's claim limitations including : a "liner body" - 14, a "handle assembly having an insert member" - 15, a "bore" - 12, "perimetrical groove" - 18, a "retaining ring" - 17, a "spindle assembly" - including 8, "including a stop member" - the portion of the spindle received inside of the handle as shown in Fig 1, a "ramp" - bevel at 22, "stop surface" - either edge of groove 18 abutting 20 reads on limitation.

Much of the functional recitations carry little patentable weight since they do not define any particular structure. See MPEP 2114. While it is not currently considered to be at issue, please note MPEP 2173.05(p) section II as regards product and process of using in a single claim. Present functional limitations are interpreted essentially as describing a capability of the structure that is positively recited as the invention but it has been held that the recitation that an element is "capable of" performing a function is not a positive limitation but only requires the ability to so perform. It does not constitute a limitation in any patentable sense. In re Hutchison, 69 USPQ 138. Claims in a pending application should be given their broadest reasonable interpretation. In re Pearson, 181 USPQ 641 (CCPA 1974).

As regards claim 5, part 9 reads on "limit member".

As regards claim 6, parts 4,5 read on limitation of "lock mechanism" inasmuch as the spindle is secured or locked thereto and the limitations defining that element don't include any structure that might be relied upon to patentably define from the well known structure of the prior art. Parts 4 and 5 both include a shaft opening as shown in Fig's 1,2 and define a "notch" therebetween as shown in fig 1 which is inherently capable "to facilitate passing said stop member of said spindle (end portion) through said lock mechanism as said spindle shaft is received in said shaft opening". The law of anticipation requires that a distinction be made between the invention described or taught and the invention claimed. It does not require that the reference "teach" what the subject patent teaches. Assuming that a reference is properly "prior art," it is only necessary that the claims under consideration "read on" something disclosed in the reference, i.e., all limitations of the claim are found in the reference, or "fully met" by it. Kalman v. Kimberly-Clark Corp., 218 USPQ 789.

As regards claim 7, part 9 reads on "limit member".

2. Claims 9-14 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by U.S. Pat. No. 1,862,716 to Solliday.

Art Unit: 3677

Solliday '716 teaches Applicant's claim limitations including : "spindle shaft" - including 13,15, a "lock mechanism" - including 2,3,4,7,8,9, a "stop member" - 19, "including a ramped surface" as shown, and a "stop surface" - 22.

As regards claim 12, Solliday '716 teaches "limit member" - 14.a "lock mechanism" - including 2,3,4,7,8,9, a "stop member" - 19, "including a ramped surface" as shown, and a "stop surface" - 22.

As regards claim 12, Solliday '716 teaches "limit member" - 14.

3. Claims 9-11 and 15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by U.S. Pat. No. 4,672,829 to Gater.

Gater '829 teaches Applicant's claim limitations including : "spindle shaft" - 80, a "lock mechanism" - including 102, a "stop member" - end of 82, "including a ramped surface" - the angled surface of 82 as shown in Fig 13, and a "stop surface" - end surface of 82 shown to be in abutment in Fig 13.
